BIG GALES TO BLOW

March Weather Will be of the Regular Stripe.

TORNADOES MAY SOON OCCUR

the Month-Relation of the Forests to the Rainfall.

Br. Joners, Mo .. March 4 .- My last letter gave forecasts of the storm wave due to cross the continent from February 28 to March 4, and the next will be te to reach the Paritic coast March cross the western mountains by close of din, the great central valleys from 7th to 9th, and the castern states abo

The disturbing causes are so great that the weather will be very changea-ble and the regular movements of the storm centers will not be so easily dis-turn centers will not be so easily dis-turn under the storm waves will shed. The storm waves will biy break up into smaller disturb-tending towards tornedoes, water s, haif storms and other small, disturbances.

is end wave following this disturb-will cross the western mountains at the 8th, the central valleys about 10th and the eastern states about the 12th.

This disturbance may produce severe storms, but there is a much greater probability that tornadoes will occur not far from March 14th. This third storm wave of the month will be due to reach the Pacific c ast about March 11th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 12th, the great central valleys from 13th to 15th and the eastern states about the 16th.

This storm will be at its greatest force from 13th to 15th, white in the Massisian valley, with great probabilities of tornadoes. These dreadful storms, however, cannot be located with our present knowledge of the weather, but there are many reasons for expecting these twisters in various parts of the United States during the next four months.

The cool wave will follow this last mentioned storm center, crossing the western mountains about the 14th, the central valleys about the 16th and the castern states about the 18th.

The drouths of the coming crop season will be so irregular that I will not undertake to give any detailed forecasts in this letter. It will be cut up into spots, depending on the latitude and the topography of the country, and I can only give my estimates of its effects in reply to private letters.

In some parts of the country there will be an almost total failure of roos, while in many other parts will be prohile in many other parts will be pro-uced the finest crops that have been rade for years, and the prospects are or good prices on all farm products, there supply and demand—not ring ombinations—govern prices. Hold all bere supply and demand—not ting mbinations—govern prices. Hold all a old products you can and produce the new you can this year, and if on da not get good prices the weather all not be to blame for it. Sixty-five years ago, the deserts had croached on the Sile delta and attom lands, till it became apparent at all the fersle lands would be wered by the drifting sands. The liter of that country caused millions trees to be planted, cultivated and otected, and as the trees grew the
